Justice Institute of BC - New Westminster campus

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

It is my honour to introduce you to the Justice Institute of British Columbia. We are a unique post-secondary educational institution based in New Westminster, BC, Canada.

Every day, individuals who have received education and training from our Institute – serving in Canada and around the world – make a difference. When there is an accident, a natural disaster, a crime that has been committed, or a conflict that needs resolving, justice and public safety professionals educated by us are at the frontlines of emergency response. We also contribute to a larger spectrum of safety – from prevention to response to recovery.

The Justice Institute of BC has the experience and knowledge to prepare learners for today's complex challenges, including the growing sophistication of crime and scale of natural and human-caused disasters. We also have years of experience in delivering education and professional training to learners with organizations in Asia, the Middle East, and North America. I invite you to read this guide to our international work and explore with us the potential for collaboration to meet your educational goals.

We look forward to working with you.

Best regards,

Jack McGee
President, Justice Institute of BC
